Estimated Adoption Rates (Advanced Economies)

"The coronavirus pandemic has affected workplaces like nothing else in modern history, including high unemployment, the shuttering of businesses, and the shift of many workers to off-site, remote work." (Gallup)

- Currently, it's expected that 40% workforces will continue to have access to workplace flexibility and commute a shared workplace between 1-3 days per week
- At least 10% of professionals will remain permanently virtual-first
- It's expected that only 50% of workers will return to the office and "business as usual"

A Weapon in the War for Talent

ATTRACTION

82% of U.S. employees want to work from home at least part-time after the pandemic is over

RETENTION

58% of workers would look for a new job if their flexibility was reduced and 35% would change jobs for more flexibility

CONTINUITY

Historically, policy retractions result in an average of 40% attrition in impacted employees

Remote Revelation

Culture Development Isn't the Biggest Barrier to Success

Businesses are concerned about keeping their teams connected, but the higher risks for sustainability is compliance.

Top Virtual Organizational Risks

WORKFORCE & CULTURE (33%)

The majority of incoming leads for consultancies like ours are based on requests to resolve gaps in employee experience and cite "culture development" as the #1 barrier to remote work sustainability.

LEADERSHIP & COMPLIANCE (84%)

To the surprise of our clients, nearly all Virtual Health Analysis results reveal an urgent risk in the Management and/or Compliance categories, due to missing policies, trainings, and infrastructure systems to prevent discrimination.

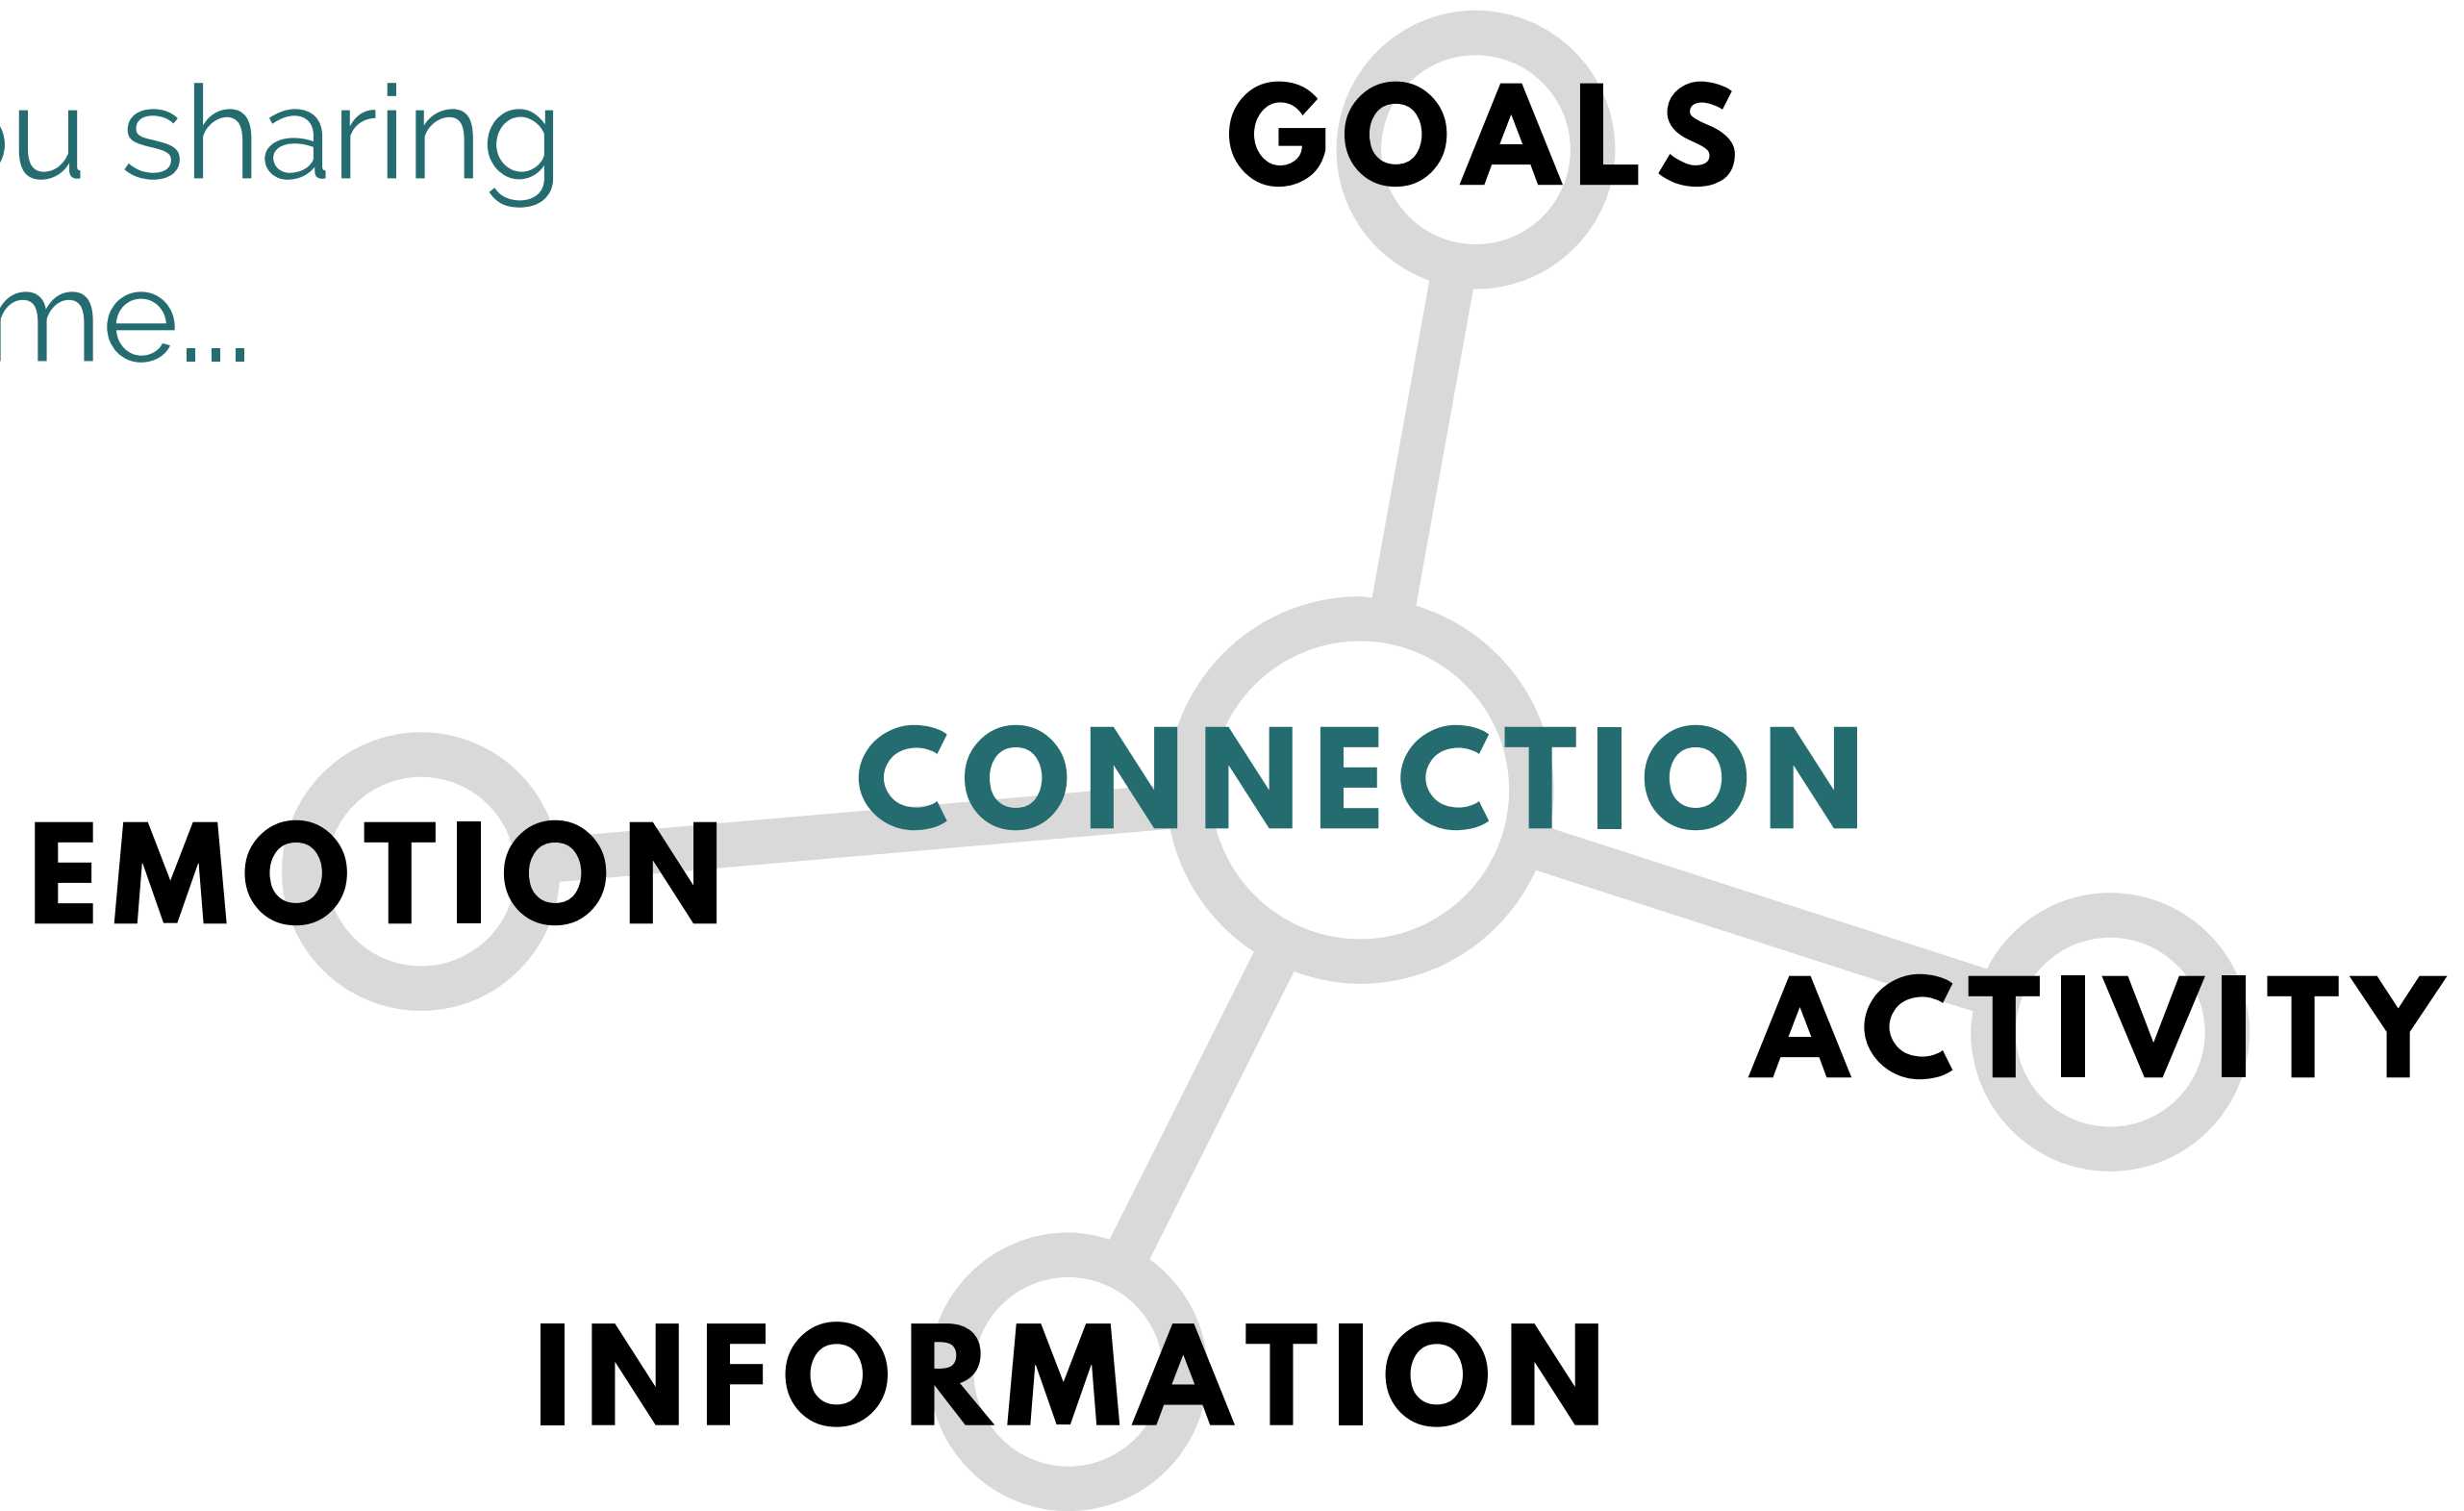

The feeling of disconnection in a distributed workforce doesn't come from social isolation, it comes from informational isolation.

Proximity is not connection.

COMMUNICATION

STAYING IN THE LOOP,
NOT IN THE ROOM

"Ok."

"I am disappointed, but I can't say anything in present company. We'll talk later... and you won't like what I have to say."

"Uh... I wasn't paying attention. Could you start over?"

"Ok."

"What am I supposed to do with that information?"

"Woot! Let's do this! I'm feeling pumped about our new direction. I'm going to go get started right now."

"Received! Thanks! I appreciate your proactivity."
